Bad Addressing Of Mail Criticized

Post Office Handicapped In Work

War will be waged upon persons who insist upon addressing mail to friends in Narberth without bothering about the formality of a street address or street numbers. The local post office was greatly handicapped by this trouble during the recent Christmas rush and Postmaster Fred C. Patten is going to enlist the co-operation of the community in a determined campaign to eliminate the evil.

"The Narberth post office was called upon to handle the greatest amount of mail in its history during the recent rush," said Postmaster Patten. "That the postal clerks and carriers handled this efficiently considering their handicaps is shown by the fact that every bit of Christmas mail was cleaned up in time. There were no late deliveries.

"We were greatly handicapped, however, by insufficiently addressed mail, mail on which there was written only the name of the recipient and 'Narberth.' Fully 60 per cent. of the mail we handled was thus insufficiently addressed.

"This lack of correct addresses is a confirmed bad habit with the friends of many of the residents of the community. It is bad enough during the regular season. We have no time to refer to files and insufficient addressing means that our clerks must carry in their heads the addresses of people who are served by the Narberth office. Coming at Christmas-time, when new clerks are taken on to aid with the holiday rush, an extra delay is caused because the new men must stop to ask the right address. They lose time not only in their own work, but delay the regular men in theirs.

"The extent of the delay that was caused may be imagined when it is learned that we had 15 inexperienced carriers added to our regular force for the rush along with a force of extra clerks. The south side, which was minus the service of regular Carrier Long, who is in the hospital, suffered most in delay.

"No one would think of writing a letter to a friend in Philadelphia and omit the street address, yet they do it often here—and there is no reason why they should. Every house in the community has a street number and all streets have names. Lack of a street number is bad enough, but some people go as far as to omit even street names.

"People living in Narberth only give Narberth as their address when they purchase goods in Philadelphia. Consequently all delivery clerks come to the post office for their addresses. We are not by postal laws allowed to give the proper address.

"All Narberth clubs and organizations have the habit of just addressing Forrest avenue, Woodside avenue or just Narberth. Everything might be O. K. but regular carriers are often away from their job, then trouble begins.

"I am sure that most of this careless addressing is due to thoughtlessness and to the fact that the people don't realize the trouble they cause us nor do they realize the delay they cause in the delivery of their faultily addressed mail. Proper addressing means prompt delivery; improper means delay."

The holiday rush, Postmaster Patten said, broke all past records. He was unable to give the per cent. of increase in the various classes of mail to estimate

Second Concert.

The Main Line School of Music Ardmore, Pa., announces the second concert of the season to be given at the Woman's Club Building, Ardmore avenue, on Monday evening, January 12th. The program will be given by several members of the faculty, consisting of solo numbers and ensemble. Program more in detail will appear in "Our Town" next week.

To Hear Talk On Education System

Interesting Meeting Of Community Club Tuesday

"The Dalton System and Modern Methods of Education" will be the topic of Dr. LeRoy King at the Community Club meeting next Tuesday, January 5.

Mr. Francis F. Froehlicher, head master of the Oak Saul Country Day School, will talk on the same method, as applied in that school.

Mrs. Babette Gerhab, who will be remembered by club members as Miss Miller, will sing.

Coming events of interest to members are a party for the children of the dancing class, Saturday morning, January 2, and the county federation meeting, which is to be held in Norristown on Thursday, January 8, at 10.30 A. M.—box luncheon, as usual. Members are asked to tell Mrs. Jacobs if they are to attend the meeting.

Tuesday of this week the club held its annual reception to women of other organizations of Narberth. Guests and members were greeted by the club officers, while a three-piece orchestra gave a cheery holiday touch with its really fine selections.

Mr. David Spratt played the piano, Mr. William Nash, the cello and Mr. Harold Schuman, the violin. Mr. Spratt also favored the company with a beautiful solo.

Mrs. Jacobs opened the program with a warm welcome to the visitors and a quotation from the constitution, setting forth the purpose of the club. She then introduced the National Alumni Players—Miss McCartney, Miss McCabe and Miss Stanstreet—who presented a very entertaining playlet, "For Distinguished Service," in which they exhibited talent and some delightful humor.

The social hour, with tea and delicious Christmas cookies served by the hospitality committee, completed the afternoon.

COMING THIS MONTH

Mirth, Melody and Music, by the Lyric Trio.

Friday evening, January 16, at 8 P. M., Borough Hall, Narberth. Members of the Matinee Musical Club need no introduction to the people of Narberth. Those who were fortunate enough to have attended the last concert, given several years ago, are still talking about it. There is no doubt a wonderful musical treat is in store for Narberth.

The Lyric Trio is composed of Dorothy Power, harpist; Florence Haenle, violinist; Ernestine Bacon, soprano, and Lillian May Leidy, contralto, all members of the Matinee Musical Club. The accompanist will be William P. Bentz, the director of the Main Line Choral Society. The concert will be held under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Narberth Tennis Association, and is being arranged by Mrs. James G. Foote. After the concert the usual tennis club dance will be held, with music by Mike Fisch.

It is unnecessary to say that this unusual musical program combined with the regular tennis club dance will crowd Borough Hall as it has never been crowded before, and tickets will probably be at a premium. Tickets can be obtained at Howard's Drug Store or from Mrs. James G. Foote, Narberth 2550-W.

Silver Shower.

The Christmas party given by Mrs. Phillips Jenkins in her studio, Fifteenth and Chestnut streets, last Tuesday, took the form of a "silver shower" for Miss Augusta Witherow, when the pupils of Mrs. Jenkins and Miss Witherow presented her with 75 pieces of flat silver. This is Miss Witherow's fourth season as assistant to Mrs. Jenkins. Her marriage to Mr. Harold B. Starkev, of San Diego, California, will take place January 27.

Back in Harness.

The Narberth Public Schools will reopen after the Christmas holidays next Monday morning.

Increasing Interest Shown In Local Scouting

Fathers' Association To Meet Next Wednesday

An interesting and thoroughly worth-while meeting is scheduled for Wednesday evening, January 7, at the Scout House. The Fathers' Association, Narberth's newest organization, will hold another session, and from the many inquiries which have come in within the last few days a large attendance is expected. The meeting is called for 8 o'clock.

Any father—any adult male resident with an interest and an enthusiasm for the youth of the borough—will be welcome and eligible for membership. There are no dues.

The Fathers' Association is wholeheartedly backing the Boy Scout movement, and though a baby organization, in spite of its name, its influence among the boys of Narberth has been strongly felt. Its immediate objective is a strong Boy Scout organization—its ultimate possibilities unlimited in its capacity for the development of better boys and more responsible citizens. Already the Scouts are responding to this new sponsorship. Narberth's representation at the Annual Counties Re-Union of December 27 was convincing evidence of the improvement in the morale of the local troop.

Twenty-two boys, with two scoutmasters at their head, paraded Broad street, proudly carrying the troop flag before them. Their smart appearance elicited much favorable comment all along the line of march to the Academy of Music.

The promise for the future of Scouting in this borough is a bright one. The new leadership and the backing of the Fathers' Association is an assurance of its quick realization.

Come on, you Skinny, you Fat, Red, Spike, Buck, all of you. You were all boys once. Come out strong next Wednesday. Join the Fathers' Association at the next meeting. It's a big idea, and it's an opportunity to really and sincerely serve your community and your country. It is expected that a man from Scout Headquarters will give a talk about Scouting. He will show you what boys are doing and why they are doing it. May be he'll teach you how to understand your boy a little better—how you can make him a better man than I am, "Gunga Din" of Bill Jones or whatever your name is.

Other men will talk on other subjects and if you have anything to say yourself, the floor is yours. So come on over.

Get next to your boy. Give him a helping hand. And shake hands with your neighbor.

Remember the day, Wednesday, January the 7th; the hour, 8 o'clock; the place, the Scout House.

They're Off!

Let us be off at the crack of the gun, making a good start for 1925. The H. C. Gara Men's Class, at the Presbyterian Church, is still doing business at the same old stand. This religion, about which we talk, is not for the pusillanimous, it's a man's job. Think of this when Stag brings his Chicago team to Franklin Field next year. At Yale he prayed before entering in an athletic contest.

Let's have a whale of a good turnout tomorrow at 12.15 to greet the New Year and Dr. Shope. ANY MAN from 9 to 90 is invited, our field is the world. At the tap of the bell, Mr. Tap will start the music, using BRAND NEW books, then Shope will teach the international lesson for the succeeding Sunday, topped off by 10 minutes for discussion (open forum, so to speak). Tell the women folks to serve dinner at 1.30. Let's not rob God during this new year, 1925. Malachi 3:8. Let's start right and start right now.

Local Men Slated for Tennis Offices

President of Narberth Club Among Candidates

Since it will be the first local tennis gesture of 1925, the Philadelphia Tennis Association's annual meeting on Wednesday evening, January 7, at the Locust Club, Sixteenth and Locust streets, takes on importance. At that time officers and an executive committee for the ensuing year will be elected.

At a previous meeting the nominating committee, consisting of A. T. Gruger, Charles D. Mitchell and A. S. Picolet, chairman, passed upon and placed the following names in nomination:

President, Paul W. Gibbons; vice president, William P. Rowland; secretary, W. D. R. Evans, and treasurer, J. D. Paul. Executive committee, H. West Borgenski, A. L. Burtis, J. Solis-Cohen, J. V. Fetter, Coleman B. Mills, P. S. Osborne, Charles N. Beard, of Cynwyd; Kenneth Snyder, William T. Tilden, Robert F. Beard and A. J. Batty.

Paul Gibbons and William P. Rowland have respectively served as president and vice president consecutively 12 years, ever since the P. T. A.'s organization, which is a fine record for leadership. In those 12 years the P. T. A. has grown from an infant tennis body to a husky association boasting of more than 1000 members, with 75 clubs playing in eight leagues—in truth one of the largest local playing tennis organizations in the United States.

As treasurer of the P. T. A. for 1925, J. D. Paul, of the Bucks County Country Club, takes the place of A. J. Batty, of Elberon, who has served so capably and acceptably. Business pressure precluded his taking the duties up again in 1925.

But in Mr. Paul the P. T. A. has a man representative of the wide awake tennis interest up Bucks county way, who will be willing to put his shoulders to the wheel and keep the good work going.

W. D. R. Evans, president of the Narberth Tennis Club, will again act as secretary, and in a similar position with the Middle States, the sectional association which takes in the territory of all Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey, except that portion within an area of 35 miles of New York city hall.

"W. D. R." will be a very busy person in 1925," says Henry Musser in his column in "The Record."

"For he assumes the tennis leadership at Brookline Square Club, that hustling Delaware county organization which will start the 1925 tennis season with several teams in the Philadelphia Tennis Association. Indeed, they have 12 fine clay courts out there, and, judging from the manner in which Prexy Evans handled the first Pennsylvania State clay court championships at Narberth last summer, there will be great court doings on tap at Brookline Square. In that tourney he invited universal satisfaction and compliments by having an umpire for every match, from the preliminaries right down the line to the finals."

Previous to the regular meeting of the Philadelphia Tennis Association on January 7, Jack Solis-Cohen will tender a dinner to the executive committee at the Locust Club.

Sang Over Radio.

Little Dorothy Mae Abbott, who "Sunny Jim" has named his "Little Prima Dona," assisted "Sunny" on Christmas eve with a beautiful Christmas story for the kiddies of "The Sunny Jim Sunshine Club" of the Strawbridge & Clothier Store in Philadelphia, Radio Station W. F. I.

Dorothy sang five Christmas carols, "Sunny" himself assisting her on the chimes and Mrs. Edward Stanley, of 221 Conway avenue, was at the piano. Dorothy can be heard from this station every Thursday, between 7 and 7.30 P. M. She has been a radio singer for over two years and is very well known to radio fans all through the east and Canada. She will be glad to sing any request numbers if you will just drop her a card addressed to her in care of "Sunny Jim," Strawbridge & Clothier, in Philadelphia.

Local Scouts In Reunion of Two Counties

Boy Scouts of Montgomery and Delaware counties Saturday paraded 3000 strong down Broad street from Arch to the Academy of Music, and transformed that historic structure into a reverberating bedlam of lusty cheers and piercing yells as part of the annual bi-county Scout reunion.

It was the biggest day in suburban Scouting since Boy Day last May, when the suburban Scouts joined thousands of Philadelphia Scouts in the great juvenile pageant on Broad street.

Director of Public Safety Butler led the Scouts in their picturesque parade, and later delivered one of his typical addresses, surcharged with verbal explosives and a wealth of good advice for Boy Scouts and boys in general.

He got the heartiest ovation of his career from his khaki-clad audience.

The boys also heard E. J. Cattell, former City Statistician, who was introduced by Ralph Bingham, another speaker, as "Santa Claus' father," talk in a paternal way of what a man thinks of youth at his age. Vaudeville numbers arranged with an eye to the theatrical likes and dislikes of boydom rounded up the varied program.

General Butler learned to his surprise that militarism has no friends among Boy Scouts, for a veritable storm of applause and vigorous yells of approval greeted an expression of his hope that "no bungling statesmanship in the future will send you boys forth to the battlefields to die as your older brothers did."

"Don't let anybody try to convince you that the Government is rotten, or that any particular public official is not as honest as he should be. If you can prove it to yourself, that's different, but don't let anybody tell you so. Grow up believing that this country and its Government is the finest and best in the world. And you'll be harboring the right belief."

"Ninety-nine out of 100 public officials are honest. The trouble with our public life today is that a lot of sordid-minded and inimical people refuse to give our officials a chance. They set them up in office and then go the limit in their efforts to knock them down. It isn't right, and you boys should begin thinking seriously now of plans to change it when you grow up."

Parents, as interested and enthusiastic as the boys themselves, filled the galleries and boxes. The program opened with a selection by the Police Band, and for three hours, until the afternoon's events terminated with the National anthem, the Academy rang with the lusty-lunged shouts of the huge boy audience in the orchestra seats.

Thanks Residents.

A letter has been received from Clarence Long, south side mail carrier, who is confined in the Bryn Mawr Hospital. During Christmas week, gifts amounting to nearly $400 were sent to the hospital. His letter says in part:

"You cannot imagine the surprise when I learned of the kindness of the families on my route and the business houses of Haverford avenue. It certainly is wonderful to know that one has so many friends in a time of need, and I want to thank them for their kindness."

The subscription from the south side and Haverford avenue was secured through the efforts of a committee of women under the direction of Mrs. Carrol Downes. The section was divided into blocks under the same system as used by the League of Women Voters, and every home was visited. There were six chairmen with a number of assistants. $336.10 was collected in that way.

Mrs. Josephine Super.

Mrs. Josephine Super, wife of the late John B. Super, died last Sunday. Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon from her late residence, 728 Montgomery avenue. Mrs. Super was one of the oldest residents of this section.

WHO'LL MAKE IT $100?

Gifts to Library Christmas Tree Now
Total $90.

The unsolicited gifts of both money and books for the library Christmas tree have been constant and generous and will in many ways increase the service which the library is rendering to the community. The cash contributions now total $90, and there is a keen desire to see this fund reach at least $100 before the library's fourth birthday, which comes on January 31.

Comparisons are usually odious, and in connection with voluntary public giving they are in poor taste; but, if no names are revealed, it may be proper to state that the people of Narberth have responded to the Christmas tree of their library more liberally than has been done by the people of some larger places.

The gifts have included two checks for $25 each and two others for $5 each, while many red stars on the tree indicate contributions of $1. Books and magazine subscriptions have also been received and are acknowledged by the green and blue stars on the tree. The tree will remain in the library until the library's birthday.

SOAP FACTORY FIRE

A fire of mysterious origin which broke out Sunday morning in the soap factory, on Rockhill road, off State road near West Manayunk, caused a loss of $6000. Firemen from the Cynwyd and the West Manayunk companies, who responded to the alarm, had difficulty in fighting the blaze due to the great distance of fire hydrants from the factory, but succeeded in saving part of the building in which the plant was located.

There was no one near the building at the time it burst into flames and firemen are at loss to account for the cause of the blaze. The exact damage is hard to estimate as the factory was located in an old mill that had been salvaged from ruin and reconstructed some years ago.

GRAVITY ALONE GOVERNS PRESSURE

Many persons believe that the company is able to pump directly into the pipe lines from the main pumping stations, thereby increasing or decreasing the pressure to the consumer at will.

Gravity alone governs pressure in the company's entire system (except between the pumping stations and distributing reservoirs or standpipes), comprising 680 miles of transmission and distributing mains.
